*Emergency response
during conflict*

Children from Sudan run through a field in the Doro camp for refugees in Upper Nile State, South Sudan. Cross-border violence has produced food insecurity for 2.4 million people. More than 18 percent of children under five in the region are suffering from acute malnutrition.

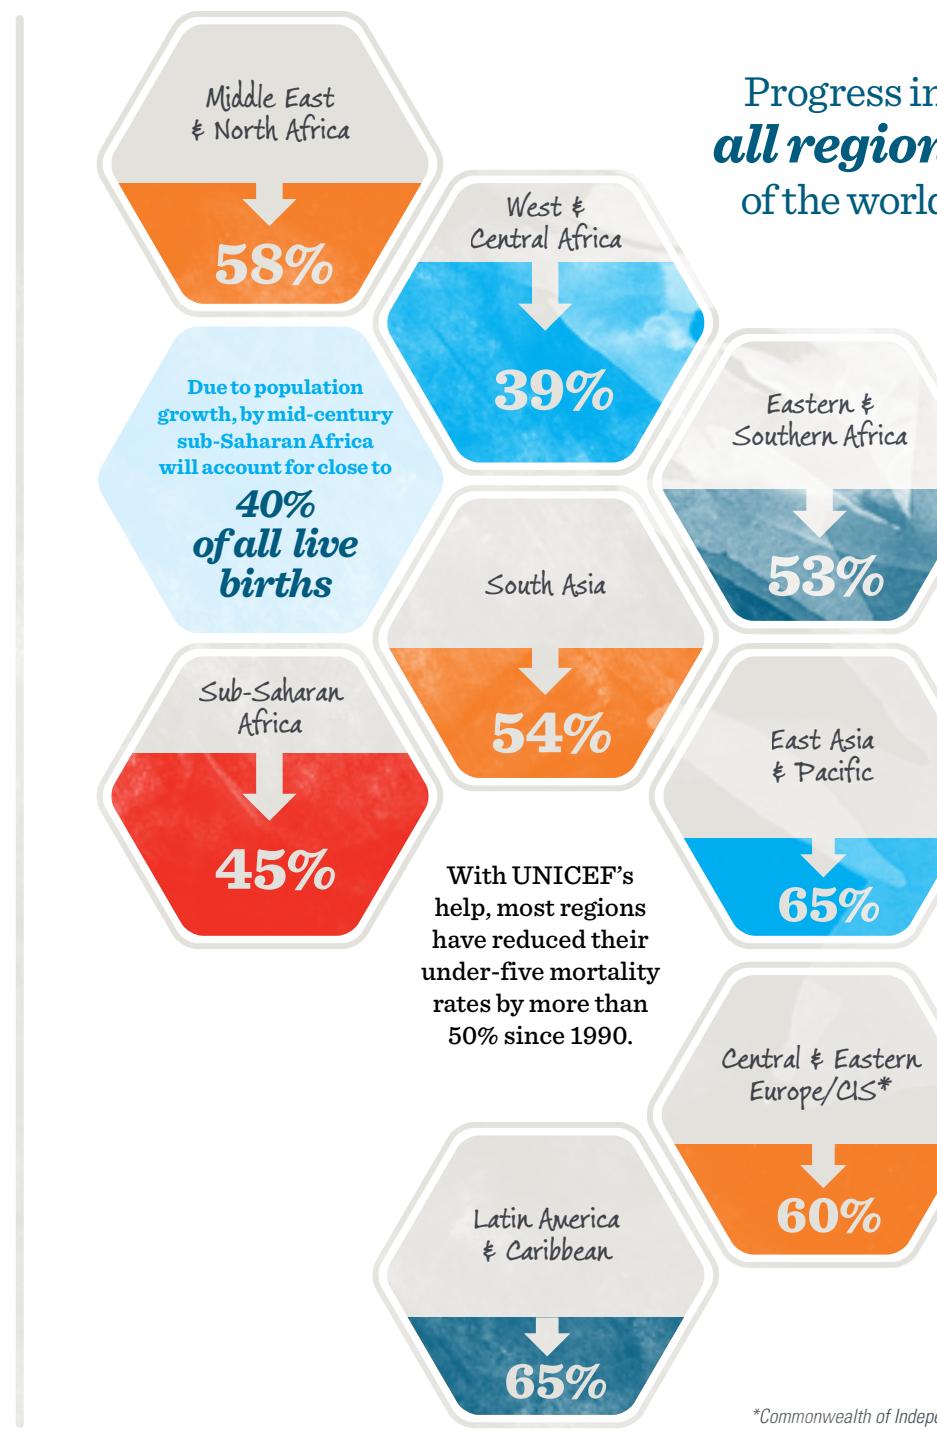

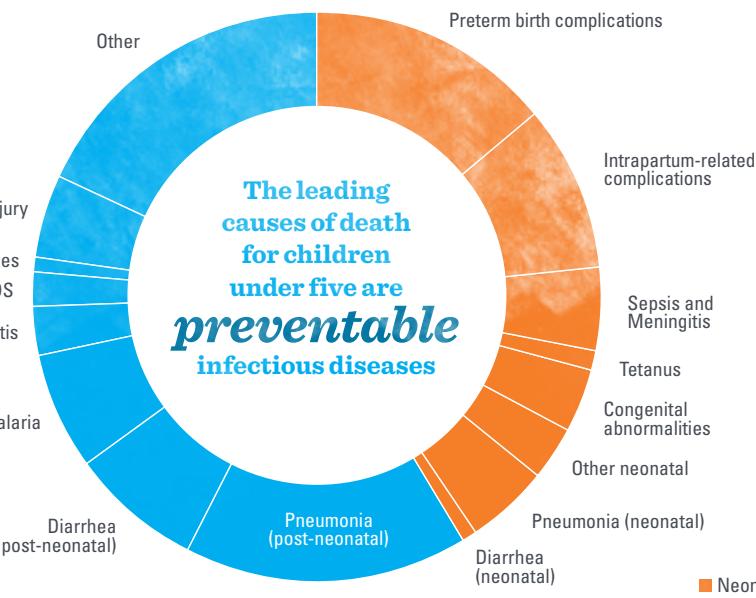

LEADERSHIP LETTER

Preeti and Rachna wash their hands before the midday meal at their school in the village of Hilgna, in India's Madhya Pradesh state. Their school participates in a UNICEF program that stresses the importance of using soap, not just water, to clean hands.

UNICEF's PROGRESS

UNICEF and its partners have helped to save an estimated 90 million lives since 1990 ...

Progress in all regions of the world

Reduction in child deaths

*Commonwealth of Independent States

UNICEF's IMPACT

Delivered 271 million packets of micro-nutrient powder

In 2012, UNICEF responded to 286 emergencies in 79 countries. UNICEF's Supply Division moved to a new warehouse in Copenhagen and procured $2.5 billion worth of supplies and services for children and women around the world.

Helped 29.5 million children in 82 countries get their birth certificates

Provided safe water for 18.8 million people in emergencies

Supplied 93,000 classroom kits and 15,000 recreation kits

Procured 1.9 billion doses of vaccines for 96 countries

Ensuring a quality education

Nisha draws on a black-board wall that was set up in her school to help children practice drawing and writing. The school is part of a pilot project started by UNICEF and the state government of Rajasthan in India. The model project promotes more effective learning environments and better accountability to students and parents.

UNICEF's HIGHLIGHTS

PASSPORT

FACT:
UNICEF vaccinated
5.8 million children against measles in Syria and the surrounding region in 2013.

Syrian child refugees

The conflict in Syria has affected more than 9 million people, including more than 5 million children. More than 2 million Syrians — half of them children — live as refugees in Egypt, Iraq, Jordan, Lebanon, Turkey and other neighboring countries. Dala Ahmed Abbas and her three children, below, are among them. They live with two other families in an improvised shelter near Dohuk in Iraq. UNICEF has been providing emergency health and nutrition supplies, safe water and sanitation facilities and child-friendly spaces to Syrian children across the region.

FACT:
UNICEF treated more than 927,000 children with severe acute malnutrition in 2012.

Food crisis in the Sahel

Dr. Wagué Diango examines 13-month-old Habi, cradled by her mother, at a UNICEF-supported nutrition center in the southern Gorgol Region of Mauritania. Habi weighs only 10.5 pounds, when she should weigh 17 pounds. She is one of 4 million children under five at risk of acute malnutrition in the Sahel region as a result of repeated drought-related food shortages. Mauritania is one of eight countries in the Sahel facing a nutrition crisis that now affects more than 18 million people. UNICEF is working with its government and other partners to screen children for malnutrition and provide treatment with ready-to-use therapeutic food.

India

Progress on polio in India

A member of a UNICEF-supported medical team vaccinates a child living in an urban construction site in Mumbai, India. In February 2012, India was removed from the WHO list of countries where polio is endemic, thanks to efforts by UNICEF and its partners to eradicate the disease worldwide by 2018. Polio is a highly infectious viral disease that attacks the nervous system, and children under five are the most vulnerable. It remains endemic in 10 countries. UNICEF is the world's largest provider of vaccines for developing countries and uses its scale and buying power to ensure that sufficient quantities of vaccines are available.

U.S. FUND for UNICEF's PROGRESS

Office of Public Policy and Advocacy

The U.S. Fund Office of Public Policy and Advocacy (OPPA) brought the fight for child survival to Washington, D.C., advocating for the U.S. Government's annual contribution to UNICEF and appropriations for child survival and maternal health. To educate policy-makers, OPPA organized briefings on UNICEF's State of the World's Children 2013: Children with Disabilities. This report focuses on UNICEF's work on child protection and on global health issues. To support these efforts on Capitol Hill, OPPA helped mobilize thousands of UNICEF supporters across the country, who advocated to make ZERO a foreign policy priority.

Education Department

TeachUNICEF added units on disability rights, global citizenship and environmental sustainability to its online library of learning resources and translated its core resources into Spanish. TeachUNICEF also became the newest member of the Partnership for 21st Century Skills, a leading advocate in the U.S. for improving education. In addition, TeachUNICEF partnered with the United Nations Guided Tours Unit to make information about UNICEF available to schools. TeachUNICEF.org enjoyed 65,000 unique visitors and 55,000 resource downloads in Fiscal Year 2013, up 71 percent and 110 percent, respectively, from the previous year.

Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF

Since it began in 1950, Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF has raised more than $170 million and has empowered millions of kids across America to help their peers in developing countries. Last year, kids were encouraged to support UNICEF by designing their own collection boxes — an opportunity to use their creativity to make a positive difference in another child's life. Actress Chloë Grace Moretz served as the 2012 Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF Ambassador. Chloë was featured on trickortreatforunicef.org and spread the word in media interviews, online and on social media.

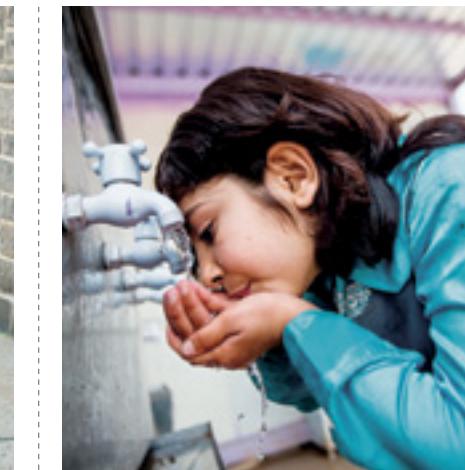

UNICEF Ambassadors and Celebrity Supporters

UNICEF Ambassadors and Supporters participated in numerous campaigns, events, field visits and publicity efforts in support of UNICEF's programs. This year, engaging celebrities has helped generate millions of dollars in donations, cultivate new supporters and highlight key issues in child survival and development. In May 2013, UNICEF Ambassador Lucy Liu visited Lebanon to shine a spotlight on the conflict in Syria. Liu helped raise awareness of the plight of the millions of Syrian children in the region who are affected. She participated in media interviews and speaking engagements, and used digital platforms to reach a mass audience.

Global Citizenship Fellows and Community Partnerships

The U.S. Fund's Global Citizenship Fellowship Program is entering its third year. The fellowship prepares a group of committed, globally minded individuals for leadership in public service, and in Fiscal Year 2013 there were 800 applicants for eight fellowships. Global Citizenship Fellows serve as grassroots mobilizers across the U.S., working to raise awareness about issues facing children and to inspire networks of faith-based communities, schools, volunteers and others to take action. Through presentations, film screenings, panel discussions and tabling events, this year's fellows have reached more than 50,000 people with their message of civic engagement and global citizenship.

UNICEF Tap Project

This year, the UNICEF Tap Project went digital. A specially designed app for Facebook turned the world's largest social network into a virtual water network, connecting people from all over the country. Thousands of volunteers participated in the campaign, while UNICEF Ambassadors and other celebrities lent their support on social media. For the fourth year, Giorgio Armani Fragrances returned as national sponsor of the UNICEF Tap Project through its "Acqua for Life" campaign.

U.S. FUND for UNICEF's IMPACT

Highlights of the U.S. Fund's new strategic plan:

The U.S. Fund for UNICEF went through a strategic planning process in Fiscal Year 2013 to review the organization's progress against its previous plan and to chart a course for the next five years.

Get ahead of the digital curve.

We will embrace technology and develop a world-class digital presence.

Drive growth.

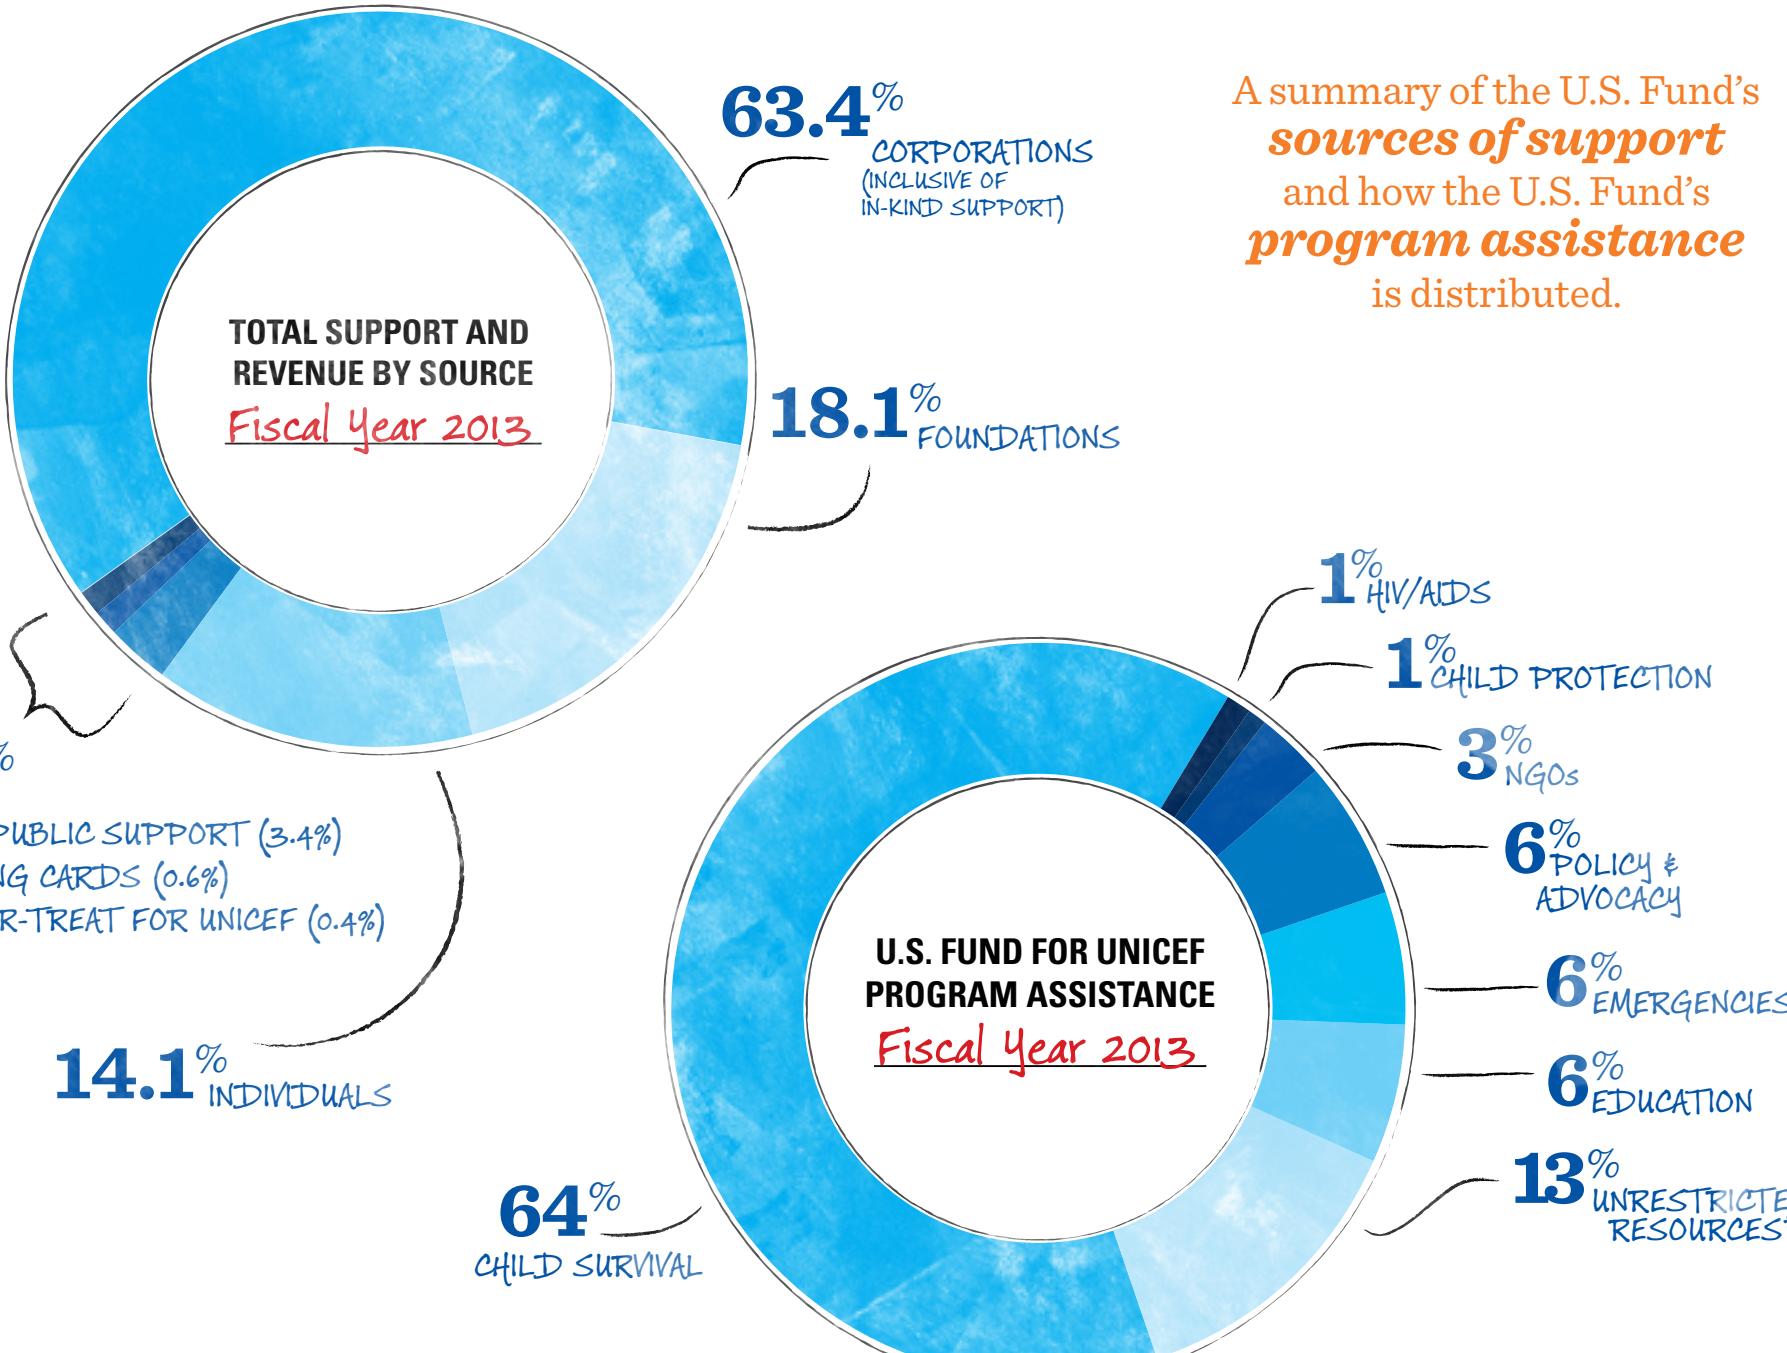

To reach our fundraising goals, we will pursue growth through fast-growing channels of support.

Do more with less.

We will continue to improve our organizational effectiveness and efficiency.

Win hearts and minds.

We will strengthen our presence in the U.S. by expanding our network of engaged supporters.

*Non-earmarked funds that allow UNICEF to quickly and effectively respond to areas of greatest need

U.S. FUND for UNICEF's HIGHLIGHTS

Rahmatullah, age 14, writes on a white board during a training workshop for electricians at a UNICEF-supported rehabilitation center in Kandahar, Afghanistan. Some 3,000 children, including former child soldiers, learn vocational skills and receive psychosocial counseling at centers like these.

Advocating for Children with Disabilities

The U.S. Fund championed the rights of the world's 93 million children who live with moderate or severe disabilities through the Equal Dreams, Equal Lives campaign in the spring of 2013. The campaign was timed to coincide with the release of UNICEF's report, State of the World's Children 2013: Children with Disabilities. Equal Dreams, Equal Lives used public service announcements, op-eds and other media resources to raise public awareness of the discrimination, exclusion and neglect that children with disabilities often face. In Washington, the U.S. Fund advocated for Senate ratification of the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities.

Recovering After Sandy

When Hurricane Sandy hit New York City on October 29, 2012, the U.S. Fund's headquarters felt the impact. The building suffered severe damage, and staff members worked remotely for weeks, in many cases while dealing with the effects of the storm on their own homes and families. The disruption came just before the extremely busy holiday giving season, but our fundraising, marketing and special events teams rose to the occasion. While the building was under repair, the finance, facilities and information technology teams were outstanding in getting us into temporary spaces and keeping us operational. Meanwhile, the communications teams kept us in touch with one another and up to date on all things UNICEF.

A New Focus on Monthly Giving

The U.S. Fund began a concerted effort to expand its monthly pledge program through a variety of channels. Monthly donations are a steady and predictable source of income, and because donations raised through monthly giving are not earmarked for one specific region or initiative, UNICEF can use the funds raised wherever the need is greatest.

NATIONAL LEADERSHIP

The National Board of Directors governs the U.S. Fund for UNICEF and, in Fiscal Year 2013, it guided us to a productive and noteworthy year. National Board members visited UNICEF programs around the world, hosted major philanthropic initiatives, secured new partnerships and contributed significant resources to support UNICEF's work on behalf of children.

U.S. FUND for UNICEF's PARTNERS & PROJECTS

Individuals

Partner: Educate a Child and Sheikha Moza Bint Nasser of Qatar

Project: Emergency primary education in Syria

Impact: More than $1 million in matching funds spurred an additional $1 million from other donors to benefit more than 250,000 children by building classrooms, providing school supplies and establishing and operating learning centers for out-of-school children.

Partner: The Charles Engelhard Foundation

Project: Art-in-a-Box Kits

Impact: A gift of more than $500,000 supported the creation of programs that help children recover from disaster experiences through art therapy. This module has been tested around the world and is being implemented on a large scale, thanks to this gift.

Partner: Roger and Rosemary Enrico

Project: Clean water in Guinea

Impact: This gift expanded UNICEF Guinea's program of manually drilling water wells, providing a new model for clean water throughout sub-Saharan Africa.

Partner: Stefan Findel and Susan Cummings-Findel

Projects: Global education; child survival in the Democratic People's Republic of Korea

Impact: $500,000 for the Let Us Learn global education project was instrumental in providing children in rural and marginalized communities in Nepal and Afghanistan with the education they deserve; and $100,000 supported programs for the basic survival of children in the Democratic People's Republic of Korea.

Partner: Danny and Sylvia Fine Kaye Foundation

Project: Danny Kaye Centennial

Impact: To celebrate the legacy of Danny Kaye, entertainer and UNICEF's first Goodwill Ambassador, his daughter Dena Kaye continues the family's commitment to philanthropy by supporting the U.S. Fund's work.

Partner: G. Barrie Landry

Project: Establishing a Master's degree at the Harvard University School of Public Health in partnership with UNICEF

Impact: More than $1 million was designated to train the next generation of child protection workers, which will benefit UNICEF, other international organizations, and children and families.

Partner: Bob and Tamar Manoukian and Affiliates

Projects: General UNICEF support and investment in U.S. Fund for UNICEF operations

Impact: $1.2 million in general support to allow UNICEF to reach some of the poorest and most vulnerable children on Earth; and significant investment in strengthening U.S. Fund for UNICEF constituencies through our digital platforms.

Partner: Miss Me

Project: The Eliminate Project

Impact: A gift of more than $500,000 helped UNICEF make gains in protecting mothers and their children in Kenya from the fatal impact of tetanus, saving countless lives.

Partner: Lily Safra

Project: Malnutrition in the Sahel region of west and central Africa

Impact: A $1 million gift helped deliver lifesaving supplies in this region to treat infants, the children most susceptible to malnutrition, helping to save their lives.

Partner: Yousriya Loza-Sawiris and the Sawiris Foundation for Social Development

Project: Schools for Egypt

Impact: This $2.25 million gift improved access to quality education in rural Egypt, ensuring that more girls and vulnerable children have access to safe, healthy and child-friendly learning environments.

Partner: Amy Robbins Towers, Nduna Foundation

Project: Capacity building in Zimbabwe

Impact: This gift of more than $600,000 leveraged existing resources to reach marginalized children in Zimbabwe by developing staff expertise and improving information dissemination systems.

Partner: Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation

Projects: Polio eradication; routine immunization; maternal, neonatal and child health; water, sanitation and hygiene; emergency response

Impact: Funding the partnership between UNICEF, Texas Children's Hospital and Baylor University, this commitment was designed to help provide direct care for children and families, training of health professionals and clinical research. As prevention and treatment for HIV continue to evolve rapidly, this gift will allow UNICEF to keep pediatric HIV on the world's radar.

Partner: Anonymous Individual

Project: Mozambique's Invisible Children; emergency response in Syria

Impact: A contribution of $1.85 million helped create an innovative educational model in Mozambique that includes special needs children, often the most stigmatized and marginalized; and supported the multifaceted needs of both internally displaced and refugee Syrian children.

down to 2015 for Maternal, Newborn and Child Survival; and scaling up community approaches to total sanitation.

Partner: The Rockefeller Foundation

Project: Universal health care with equity in district health systems

Impact: The Rockefeller Foundation's grant of $531,000 is supporting research aimed at ensuring access to and use of quality health services throughout the continuum of care for all people in society.

Partner: Dell

Project: Youth programs in Morocco

Impact: Through Dell's Powering the Possible Youth Learning initiative, the company continued its commitment to support UNICEF programs in Morocco that help give young people the power to discover better possibilities through improved education and technology access.

Partner: Giorgio Armani Fragrances

Project: UNICEF Tap Project: "Acqua for Life" campaign, in which a donation was made for each purchase of Acqua di Giò and Acqua di Gioia fragrances during the month of March Impact: The company returned for a fourth year as National Sponsor of the UNICEF Tap Project through its "Acqua for Life" cause marketing and Facebook campaign. This effort raised $500,000 to help provide clean water for children.

Partner: Gucci

Projects: "Gucci for UNICEF" bag and GG Flag Collection international cause-marketing campaigns; Gucci Children's Collection grant; "Chime for Change" activities

Partner: Caterpillar Foundation

Project: UNICEF education programs in Ethiopia, Rwanda and South Africa

Impact: The Caterpillar Foundation donated $1 million this year as part of a three-year $3 million commitment to UNICEF's Schools for Africa initiative, including support for water, sanitation and hygiene interventions in schools, teacher training and school materials and improvements.

IKEA FOUNDATION

Pier1 imports®

Partner: IKEA Foundation
Projects: Annual "Soft Toys for Education" global cause-marketing campaign; UNICEF greeting cards sold in IKEA, U.S. stores, with an additional donation for each pack sold Impact: Through the "Soft Toys for Education" campaign, IKEA, UNICEF's largest global corporate cash partner, generated more than $8 million for UNICEF globally, including more than $700,000 in the U.S. In addition, IKEA's greeting card sales generated almost $500,000. Over the past ten years, through "Soft Toys for Education," IKEA has helped 5.5 million children across seven countries in Africa receive a quality education.

Partner: M•A•C AIDS Fund
Project: Elimination of new HIV infections in children and keeping mothers alive
Impact: As part of their global partnership with UNICEF, the M•A•C AIDS Fund contributed a grant of $575,000 to accelerate diagnosis, treatment and care for children in Brazil, India, Russia and South Africa through innovative programs and technologies.

Partner: Merck
Projects: Treating river blindness; reducing maternal deaths Impact: Merck's Mectizan® Donation Program is the longest-running public-private partnership of its kind. Merck's ongoing support has enabled UNICEF to reach nearly 20 million people in Nigeria with treatments to prevent river blindness, a debilitating and disfiguring disease transmitted through the bite of parasite-bearing flies. Merck also provided close to $500,000 in funding to reduce maternal deaths related to pregnancy or childbirth, and neonatal deaths in South Africa through the Merck for Mothers Global Giving Program.

Partner:

Pier 1 Imports®

Project:

UNICEF greeting cards sales

Impact:

Long-term partner Pier 1 Imports® once again sold UNICEF holiday cards in their stores nationwide and gave 100 percent of the proceeds from sales to the U.S. Fund. The company generated $1.9 million in revenue in Fiscal Year 2013 for UNICEF programs.

Partner:

Pfizer, Inc.

Project:

Treating and preventing trachoma

Impact:

Through a partnership with the International Trachoma Initiative, Pfizer continued donations of its antibiotic Zithromax® to treat trachoma. Pfizer's support is part of a robust campaign to treat and prevent the disease, the world's leading cause of preventable blindness. The company has provided millions of treatments throughout Ethiopia, where trachoma is endemic.

Partner:

Unilever United States

Foundation, Inc.

Project:

Community Approaches to

Total Sanitation (CATS) program

Impact:

As part of Unilever's commitment to helping more than a billion people take action to improve their health and well-being, the Unilever United States Foundation, Inc. provided a grant to the U.S. Fund for UNICEF to implement and expand UNICEF's CATS program. CATS aims to eliminate open defecation by changing behavior and promoting demand for sanitation.

Partner:

UPS

Projects:

Donation of services and expertise to support UNICEF's emergency response during the crises in the Sahel and Syria; delivery of mosquito nets to South Sudan; and assistance in a warehouse stock replenishment project in Copenhagen

Impact:

UPS provided more than $1 million of grant funding, logistical expertise and in-kind assistance. Through donated flights carrying critical relief supplies to Mali during the nutrition crisis in the Sahel, UPS helped UNICEF deliver water purification kits for 2,640 families, oral rehydration salts to help 2 million people and medical kits to cover the needs of 10,000 people for a month. The company also contributed flights to Lebanon in response to emergency health needs during the ongoing Syria crisis. That support delivered 50 midwifery kits and 10 Interagency Emergency Health Kits, each of which can serve a population of 10,000 for three months.

In addition, UPS donated the transportation of 70,000 insecticide-treated bed nets in South Sudan to prevent malaria. UPS also provided expertise for a stock replenishment project to improve inventory optimization for UNICEF's main warehouse in Copenhagen.

Partner:

Western Union Foundation

Project:

"PASS Initiative" in support of education

Impact:

Western Union and the Western Union Foundation committed to a three-year $1.8 million grant in support of UNICEF education programs through the PASS Initiative, which is harnessing the power of soccer to ensure that children around the world gain access to a quality education and are able to reach their full potential.

UNICEF Bridge Fund

Partner: Athena Capital Advisors LLC

Project: The UNICEF Bridge Fund

Impact: Athena Capital contributed significantly to the growth of the UNICEF Bridge Fund's social investment loan pool through two five-year, $1 million loans made by individual clients. Athena introduced these clients to UNICEF's work after completing a rigorous due diligence process, enabling the firm to stand behind a recommendation to support the Bridge Fund as an impact investment.

A member of the Global Impact Investing Network, Athena has taken a leadership role in the investment management industry, serving as a model for ways in which advisors can introduce clients to opportunities to advance social good through investment activity.

Partner: Imprint Capital LLC

Project: The UNICEF Bridge Fund

Impact: A leading impact investment firm, Imprint Capital has committed $500,000 in client loans to the UNICEF Bridge Fund. Imprint has strengthened the Bridge Fund's operations through due diligence, introduced the Bridge Fund to a diverse mix of clients and helped the Bridge Fund elevate its profile within the impact investing industry.

With Imprint's active participation in Bridge Fund events in San Francisco and New York City, the firm has mobilized new supporters behind the Bridge Fund's efforts to fast-track delivery of lifesaving goods to children.

Impact:

More than 500 guests gathered for the sixth annual Message of Hope Gala and second annual After Party. Co-chairs Martha Metz and Tina Trott helped raise $940,000, a record for the event.

Sports Organizations

Partner: National Basketball Association (NBA)

Project: NBA Cares

Impact:

The NBA Cares program provided media assets, personalities and resources, and high-profile field visits by players. This important sports partnership has drawn attention to UNICEF efforts and raised awareness for U.S. Fund for UNICEF programs, marketing campaigns and fundraising initiatives.

K.I.N.D.

Partner: MSNBC

Project: K.I.N.D. (Kids in Need of Desks)

Impact:

Led by MSNBC's Lawrence O'Donnell, the K.I.N.D. campaign raised more than $1.2 million to manufacture and deliver school desks for classrooms and to provide scholarships for girls attending secondary school in rural Malawi.

Civil Society Partners

Partner: Zonta International

Projects: Elimination of new pediatric HIV infection, as well as prevention and response to survivors of domestic and gender-based violence in Rwanda

Impact:

During 2012–2014, Zonta International's $1 million commitment will cover almost 10 percent of Rwanda's total funding needs for the prevention of mother-to-child transmission of HIV and the prevention of gender-based and domestic violence. Because of partners like Zonta International, Rwanda is on track to achieving an HIV-free generation by 2015.

Special Events

Project: The UNICEF Snowflake Ball

Impact:

The eighth annual UNICEF Snowflake Ball, presented by Bacardi, raised more than $2.6 million for UNICEF's core programs. The black-tie gala honored UNICEF Goodwill Ambassador Harry Belafonte with the Audrey Hepburn Humanitarian Award and U.S. Fund for UNICEF board member Dolores Gahan with the Spirit of Compassion Award.

Thanks to the event's sponsors and the leadership of its co-chairs, Alli Achtmeyer, G. Barrie Landry and Bryan Rafanelli, the event raised $905,000.

Project: UNICEF Audrey Hepburn® Society Ball

Impact: The inaugural UNICEF Audrey Hepburn® Society Ball raised more than $650,000. Margaret Alkek Williams was honored with The Audrey Hepburn® Society Philanthropist of the Year Award for her dedication and advocacy on behalf of children in Houston and around the world.

Groups and Campaigns

Since it began 63 years ago, Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF has raised $171 million and has empowered millions of kids across America to help their peers in developing countries. Last year, kids helped UNICEF in their own creative way by designing collection boxes — an opportunity to make a unique statement and a positive difference in another child's life. Actress Chloë Grace Moretz lent her support as the 2012 Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF Ambassador. Chloë was featured on trickortreatforunicef.org and spread the word online through her Twitter page, a guest post on the U.S.

This year, the UNICEF Tap Project moved from the physical world to the digital world. Our Facebook App turned the world's largest social network into a virtual water network connecting people from all over the country with the help of volunteers and celebrity supporters. For the fourth year, Giorgio Armani Fragrances returned as the National Sponsor of the UNICEF Tap Project with its "Acqua for Life" campaign. Thousands of volunteers showed tremendous support for the campaign, while UNICEF Ambassadors and other celebrities, including UNICEF Supporters, lent their support on Facebook and Twitter.

In September 2012, the U.S. Fund for UNICEF's National Board members Mary Erdoes, Pamela Fiori, Téa Leoni and its president, Caryl M. Stern, hosted the annual Rising Power of Women in Philanthropy breakfast in New York City at the headquarters of JPMorgan Chase & Co. This event featured a panel discussion on how women philanthropists are making a significant impact on the world's children. The U.S. Fund is actively collaborating with women philanthropists to advance and protect girls and women around the world.

UNICEF's Next Generation, a group of committed young professionals, raised more than $570,000 to support UNICEF programs worldwide, including child protection in Vietnam and Colombia. Next Generation Steering Committee members traveled to Vietnam to visit the child protection programs they supported and helped launch UNICEF's Next Generation Vietnam. The group also launched two new steering committees in Chicago and Los Angeles and held four successful events last year: the UNICEF Masquerade Ball and the fourth annual Next Generation Photo Benefit, both in New York City; the Message of Hope After Party in Chicago; and the Next Gen Los Angeles launch event at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art.

UNICEF greeting cards and products generated a total of $3.4 million in net revenue in Fiscal Year 2013. Long-term partners Pier 1 Imports® and IKEA USA once again sold UNICEF holiday cards in their nationwide stores and gave 100 percent of the proceeds from sales to the U.S. Fund. UNICEF cards were also sold year-round at Hallmark Gold Crown® and Barnes and Noble stores.

FINANCIAL LETTER

Three children in Domiz refugee camp in northern Iraq walk to a UNICEF-supported primary school.

The U.S. Fund for UNICEF management team, as overseen by the Audit Committee of our Board of Directors, has continued to establish and maintain internal controls and reporting methods that emphasize documentation, implementation and testing. As a result, we have maintained the highest level of ethical, business and financial practices, enabling the U.S. Fund for UNICEF to remain financially strong during these still unpredictable financial times.

The financial summary on page 23 highlights our financial statements, all of which KPMG, LLP audited. A complete set of our financial statements, including the related notes with auditors' unqualified opinion, is available upon request as well as on our website.

At the direction of the Audit Committee, U.S. Fund management has continued to enhance a robust internal audit plan that emphasizes compliance, accountability, data security and reliability in order to help counter any risks that could impact the internal control systems of the organization. The scope of our internal audit testing, approved by the Audit Committee, included testing of controls at our national headquarters involving our grant making and approval process, major donor agreements, major vendor contracts and whistleblower and conflict of interest policies, as well as a review at the regional offices, and all were found to be reliable and effective. We also are in compliance with Federal Form 990 requirements and comply with 403(b) Form 5500 audit requirements. Any findings are reported to the Audit Committee and shared with our independent auditors. The same rigor has been applied when reviewing our information technologies systems for compliance and control, and we have met Payment Card Industry (PCI) compliance standards.

We believe that our internal controls, coupled with continued enhancements, oversight and internal audit process testing, provide reasonable assurance that our financial reports and statements are reliable and that they comply with generally accepted accounting principles.

Note 1

Through the Office of Public Policy and Advocacy in Washington, D.C., the U.S. Fund for UNICEF acts as an advocate for the well-being of the world's children. One of the specific functions of the Public Policy Office is to advise both the administration and Congress about the importance of the voluntary contributions made to UNICEF by the U.S. Government. The U.S. Fund for UNICEF's efforts in this regard helped to get Congress to direct the U.S. Government to allocate $125.2 million to UNICEF in 2013. This funding is provided directly to UNICEF and is not reflected as Revenue in the Summary of Financial Results. Related expenses are included in total program services.

Note 2

The U.S. Fund for UNICEF has total net assets of $78.3 million that consist of:

	Amount $
Unrestricted	29,614,247
Temporarily Restricted	47,049,326
Permanently Restricted	1,624,329
Total	$78,287,902

Unrestricted net assets are used to account for public support that is unrestricted in nature. Temporarily restricted net assets are used to account for contributions that have donor-imposed restrictions that have not been fulfilled either in time or by purpose. Permanently restricted net assets are utilized to account for true endowments, whereby the donor has permitted the U.S. Fund for UNICEF to use the income for operations but has prohibited the use of principal. Temporarily restricted net assets will be used to fund various projects such as the Global Mercury Emergency Fund, HIV/AIDS, Education, Child Survival, Child Protection and others.

Note 3

This summary was prepared by the U.S. Fund for UNICEF from its financial statements, which were audited by KPMG, LLP. The complete financial statements, including the related notes and auditor's report, are available upon request.

Their generous gifts, which totaled $6,249,549 million in Fiscal Year 2013, helped thousands of children live safer, healthier lives and moved us one step closer to achieving ZERO preventable child deaths. We extend our sympathy and heartfelt thanks to their loved ones.

Danny Kaye Society

The Danny Kaye Society honors those supporters who are investing in the future survival and development of children around the world by naming the U.S. Fund for UNICEF in their estate and financial plans. Legacy gifts include charitable bequests, beneficiary designations, charitable trusts and charitable gift annuities.

As of July 1, 2013, 1,090 members of the Danny Kaye Society have informed the U.S. Fund for UNICEF of their estate plans. We applaud their foresight and leadership in making future generations of children a priority.

Program and Community Engagement

We appreciate the commitment, time, talent and energy of our volunteers, Global Citizenship Fellows, educators, civil society partners, donors and supporters. Whether you are volunteers conducting grassroots fundraisers, a member of our UNICEF Campus Initiative or UNICEF High School Club, runners on Team UNICEF, educators using TeachUNICEF resources or mobilizing your members to increase awareness and funds, every penny you raise and every minute you spend advocating on behalf of children save lives.

Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF
2012 marked the 62nd year of the Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF campaign. Millions of children across the country, as well as schools, teachers, NGOs, community and faith-based groups, corporate partners and their employees and government officials participated in Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF, raising more than $2.4 million. The U.S. Fund for UNICEF is grateful for the support of National Sponsors Key Club International and Starcom MediaVest, as well as Promotional Supporters American Airlines and Coinstar, Inc.

UNICEF Tap Project

In its seventh year, the UNICEF Tap Project moved from the physical world to the digital world. Volunteers along with corporations, celebrities and local government supported the initiative. Organized under the laws of New York State as a not-for-profit corporation, the U.S. Fund for UNICEF is exempt from tax under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and is governed by an independent and non-salaried board of directors. The U.S. Fund for UNICEF qualifies for the maximum charitable contribution deduction by donors. A summary of activities and financial highlights for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2013, is described in this report.

UNICEF was founded in 1946 to help children in postwar Europe, China and the Middle East. Today, as the United Nations Children's Fund, it serves children and families in developing countries worldwide and depends entirely on voluntary contributions. The U.S. Fund was established in 1947, the first of 36 National Committees set up globally to support UNICEF through fundraising, education and advocacy. Since its inception, the U.S. Fund has provided UNICEF and various NGOs with $5.5 billion in cash and gifts-in-kind.

The U.S. Fund for UNICEF receives top scores for accountability from Charity Navigator and the Better Business Bureau. Of every dollar we spend, 91.2 cents goes to programs that help children. Only 6.3 cents goes to fundraising and 2.5 cents to administration.
